SEVEN NEW MEMBER AGENCIES NAMED

By Morais Wallen

"THE UNITED WAY OF GREATER TORONTO HAS ADMITTED SEVEN NEW MEMBER AGENCIES AND THE ALLOCATION OF THIRTYTWO ONE YEAR GRANTS", SAID FRED BECK, CHAIRMAN - UNITED WAY DEVELOPMENTAL FUNDING AT A PRESS CONFERENCE HELD AT THE HEAD OFFICE OF THE JAMAICAN-CANADIAN ASSOCIATION.

The occasion was the formal reception of the JCA along with six other agencies as member agencies of that organization. As a funding organization, it has recognized the JCA as an agency serving the the needs of the Jamaican community in Metro Toronto.

Throughout its years of service JCA has maintained a consistent commitment to community service. It has demonstrated that the multi-ethnic, multi-racial and multi-cultural composition of our community and the importance of agencies like itself cannot be taken for granted. Through its social services it has increased the awareness of the Canadian community on several crucial issues directly related to total development of our community. It is recognized for its consistent and accurate representation of issues affecting the community as a whole. Responding to the challenge to continue the good work, Mr. Roy Williams, president of the JCA confirmed our firm commitment to service and our appreciation for the recognition. He also maintained that "dynamics of recognition must be consistent with degree of solidarity with other agencies in addressing the problems that are faced by the minority community".

BOB MARLEY REMEMBERED

By Morais Wallen

Seven years ago on May 11, Jamaica, and indeed the world lost a prophet, philosopher, musician and brother in the person of Bob Marley. His career as a singer and writer spanned 20 years, from 1961 to 1981. During this time he distinguished himself as a spokesperson for the poor and oppressed in an way that is only matched by Marcus Garvey.

His message transcended the contradictions implied in the attitudes of Rasta men of his type. The images of burning logwood, of drawing bad cards, rock as his pillow, cornmeal porridge and the hopes for the future were expressed with such humility that his message became the message of the poor and oppressed to the powers that be. As early as 1974 when the idea of a "democratic socialist" society was introduced Bob Marley told the working class people "never trust a politician...he will always want to control you". Out of this situation he called for a revolution. When the innocent blood was being shed, he warned that someone will have to pay. In all of this, Marley was dissatisfied with the political state of the country to the point where he "wore a permanent screw".

The crisis of imperialism dictates a certain urgency to the music of Marley. Despite the clarity and power of reggae the thrust of cultural resistance has not affected the basic institutions of the Jamaican society. The music of Marley must be linked to an ideology of change. One which recognises the need for political and social liberation that will create the society where true humanity is at least shadowed.

The hostility to anything or person that is oppressive is a manifestation of the resistance to the cultural and ideological assault which are faced at the centre of the Babylonian system. The cultural resistance from the hills of Jamaica and the symbol of defiance become his form of resistance as he attempts through his lyrics to create a more meaningful living environment for his fellow Jamaicans.

The spirit of Marley lives on in the voices of oppressed crying for liberation. This cry can be heard all the way from the township of Southern Africa to the valleys of Trench Town Jamaica. The message of Marley remains an inspiration. The challenge of equal right and justice is as relevant today as it was when they rang out at the peace concert. Let us accept the challenge to "get up and stand up for our rights" as we remember the death of a true prophet.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

JCA in United Way.

On April 26, 1988, with appropriate ceremony, the Jamaican-Canadian Association was admitted into the United Way family as a member agency. After approximately four years of United Way Developmental funding we now have obtained member status. We share this new status with the Black Secretariat, the Rexdale Women's Centre and four other groups that were admitted this year. This is the first time that two entities from the Black/Caribbean Communities have been admitted and brings to a total of three such groups within the United Way Family (Tropicana Community Services was admitted some years ago). This membership further emphasizes the direction in which the JCA has been moving in providing social services to this very needy community. We will concentrate primarily on the young and on the elderly. We do not have the resources at the present time to deal with the middle of the spectrum. We will still continue to address the needs of immigrants during their adjustment period and we will continue to advocate on behalf of the disadvantaged. We will need many volunteers to help us to deliver on this mandate, as the United Way is a volunteer organization.

WALK-A-THON - A SUCCESS.

I unfortunately was out of town on the first of May and for the first time missed the Walk-a-thon. I understood though that you could not have had a nicer day (I arranged that before I left.) I understand also that there was a very enthusiastic group of walkers and that the effort should produce substantial returns for the Building Fund. I understand that Bromley Armstrong, Austin Davey and Wilfred Greenwood were first place winners. Bromley will therefore have to train harder to fend off these new challengers. I thank the Consul General Mrs. Kay Baxter for officiating and actually Walking (and finishing). In a year or two she will have attained the same level of athletic prowess as her predecessor Ossie Murray. Talking about first place finishing the grapevine tells me that as far as pledges go Jean Gammage has a long lead over all challengers. Please accept my deepest gratitude to all who walked, pledged, helped with the planning and the organizing and prez.s....continued on page 3 who worked both in front and behind the scenes. Thanks to Bromley, Hector and all other helpers. We most sincere thank you to Hugh Daley who donated the printing.

Our Executive Director Moves On.

One of the key builders of the Jamaican-Canadian Association is Karl Fuller. He has served this Association in many different capacities over the years. His most significant role, however, has been as Executive Director of the JCA - the first and only Executive Director we have had. He carved out the mandate and defined the limits of the job. He did more than was required. He was Co-ordinator, Building Manager, General Manager, Policy Adviser, Project Manager, Peace Maker and a host of other things. He, more than any other one individual, is responsible for bringing the JCA to its present high profile and good standing. I could rely on him completely. He made my job so much easier. I didn't have to worry about too many things because I knew Karl would handle them. We knew he would have to move on some day, but we hoped that day would be delayed. However, he moves on to another organization with which he has strong ties. We know he will do so much for that organization as he has done for the JCA. We wish him well as he moves on. We thank him for his contribution and our consolation is that we know he will always be a dedicated JCA person and will continue to serve in some other capacity.

CARAVAN

Caravan time is here again. June 17-25. We will be participating along with many other cultural groups in the Annual Metro International Caravan. This is usually a fun time. It will be a festival of good food, good music, good entertainment, Red Stripe Beer, Run Punch, good friends and good fellowship. Passports are now available for $8.00 until early June when they will cost $10.00 each. Please pick yours up at the Centre - NOW. Get one for each of your friends as well. Call Daphne Bailey who is co-ordinating passport sales. A lot of work is involved in this effort. We need a lot of volunteers to make it succeed so please phone Sheila Raymond to indicate when, and in what role and how often you can be relied upon to assist in this very important task.

New Look for In-Focus

We have been gradually trying to bring the process of the JCA into the 20th century by learning and taking advantage of new technology. This has not been easy. We are trying to produce our newsletter ourselves by using our computer and finding appropriate Desktop Publishing Software to accomplish it. There are no resident experts on staff to assist us with this. We are fortunate however, to have some curious minds, willing learners and dedicated personnel who are committed to making it happen. These persons are Grace Baugh, Morais Wallen and Christine Moodie. They each have put countless hours into this experiment. They are still learning. The first issue may not be perfect but they will continue working at it until it becomes perfect. I thank them sincerely for the effort. It means so much to the Association.

NEW DIRECTIONS FOR PAL PROGRAM

By Morais Wallen

On May 6, the CYFS held an Open House to reintroduce its Pal Program. It was attended by parents, volunteers, Social Service Agencies and JCA staff members.

In outlining the revised plans for the Program, Yasmine Aarons stated that it is necessary to recognise the part played by both the volunteers and the parents. She challenged the volunteers to "make sure that their motive are clear and intentional" and the parents to "avoid unreasonable expectations".

The purpose of this program is to share in the life of the young Pals in such a way that he/she would not have been fortunate to have share otherwise. Service to the Caribbean community is one of our fundamental objectives. The volunteers, majority of whom are from UJAAMA young people's group renewed their to the program. This group has been very instrumental in proving volunteers to the program since its inception, Rich Boyne for Delcrest also promised continued support.

The parents in attendance were overwhelmed by the enthusiasm of the volunteer to provide role models and support to their children. "The pal program has made a difference in... life, I have noticed changes in his attitude especially with his school work" were the sentiments of one of our parents. She challenged us to keep the program going because it has the potential to help Black children.

We currently have 6-7 active volunteers with Pals who have renewed their support. We hope that before the end of the summer we will have 15-20 volunteers with Pals.

JCA Reactivates Women Committee

by Eva Smith and Joan Grant-Cummings

On Saturday, April 30, 1988, the JCA Women's Committee (formerly JCA's Women's Auxiliary Group) was officially reactivated. This took the form of a wine and cheese reception. Special invited guest, Dr. Mavis Burke could not attend due to illness.

The Committee's objectives are as follows :

- To provide a forum to address women's issues and be a support and resource group.
- To initiate special projects to provide an avenue for networking with women of all ages.
- To assist in fundraising endeavours of the JCA.

Dr. Burke in her congratulatory letter to the committee, highlighted and identified many of the roles and activities that the Women's Committee will have the opportunity to be involved with and contribute to. She mentioned for example the "need to provide a resource to identify the problems being experienced by our women and to facilitate solutions to specific situations". She emphasized the fact that "many reports highlighted the stress of working conditions, of the break up of the family, violence in the home and related problems." These should be some of the issues that are to be addressed by this Women's Committee.

The group plans to put on workshops aimed at reaching women of all walks of life, especially those in crisis situations and women who for some reason are not able to access information about Family Law, Family Services, Spouse Assault, the Education System, etc.

The group plans to also participate in fundraising activities. Their first venture is a Bus Trip to Buffalo on Saturday, May 28. The proceeds will be donated to the Eva Smith Bursary. The Bus leaves the St. Clair West subway area (Loblaws Parking Lot) at 9:30 p.m. and returns to Toronto by 7:30 p.m. Cost per person is $30.00. For more information call Eva Smith and Joan Grant-Cummings at 535-4476.

LEDE: PROFILE ON GEORGE MARTIN MANAGER OF THE JCA'S CARIBBEAN YOUTH AND FAMILY SERVICES (formerly CYP)

By Joan Grant-Cummings

George Martin originally from Antigua, is a new additions to the JCA's Caribbean Youth and Family Services' office. George is our resident Social Worker and holds a Masters in Social Work. He is no stranger to the JCA in the sense that he has been aware of the community work that we have been doing and admired us from afar.

George recalls his mother and his grandmother as two people who helped to shape him into what he is today. His grandmother especially, taught him about his history and the contributions of Blacks to world civilization.

His social consciousness was further stimulated by the inequalities he saw in the various governments of the Caribbean.

The satirical lyrics of Sparrow's songs and other Caribbean performers served to strenghtehen his opinion that all was not well and that not every man was given a fair chance to achieve. He was always, deeply concerned about the Caribbean family, especially in the role that the Caribbean fathers play in their children's lives. At an early age he played father and brother to his younger brother by attending PTA meetings and advocating on his behalf in the school setting. George was determined that should he become a father one day, he would be involved at all levels with his children's development.

Mr. Martin did not set out to be a Social Worker when he started his post-secondary education. In fact, he was headed for the world of business. However, he became increasingly dissatisfied with this particular discipline when he realized more and more that it favoured one select group of people over another in terms of the ability to serve financially, and hence socio-economically. The time spent in business was not totally wasted however. Having the knowledge of the other side of the coin helped him to see things on more even keel, i.e. not from a totally sociological viewpoint. It was his preoccupation with the present social condition of humanity that led him to pursue his present line of work as a Social Worker.

One of George's interests is also sports. As a young man in Antigua he represented not only his school, but his Island in different championships. He is an avid cricketer, volleyball and soccer player. He uses sports in his work to forge closer links with the youth. George may not be a participant in North American sports such as football but he is certainly a fan and a spectator. His ability to mix so complex a field with active sports must be the key to his calm, unruffled and composed disposition.

We are proud to have George Martin on our staff, and we have already began to benefit from his expertise and advice.

George Martin, committed Social Worker and ardent sports fan.

AIR JAMAICA - AIR CANADA PLAN INTEGRATED SERVICE

By Robert Tanner

Air Jamaica and Air Canada have reached an agreement which will enable passengers flying the popular Canada-Jamaica route to enjoy the benefits of cooperative integrated schedules and fares.

The new agreement, which is effective July 1, 1988, will allow more non-stop flights from Toronto to Montego Bay and Kingston. At present both airlines service the two destinations similarly.

As a result, Air Jamaica and Air Canada will modify their schedules effective July 1988. Air Canada will operate Toronto-Kingston on Mondays and Toronto-Montego Bay on Thursdays while Air Jamaica will operate Toronto-Montego Bay on Mondays and Toronto-Kingston on Thursdays. The balance of the schedule will remain unchanged with both Air Jamaica and Air Canada operating a Toronto-Montego Bay-Kingston-Toronto flight on Saturdays and Sundays.

The new agreement, which is effective July 1, 1988, will primarily allow Air Jamaica and Air Canada to integrate flight schedules resulting in more
